SECTION 3: Outreach Recruitment Initiatives

Time Period Covered: August 1, 2016 - July 31, 2017

Stations in Employment Unit: WFMV, WGCV, WQXL

1. Ongoing Internship for Area College Students

The WFMV /WGCV /WQXL student Internship program allows students from area colleges and universities who are interested in broadcasting, to gain hands-on-experience in all facets of broadcasting. Students must be (1) enrolled in a broadcast-related course, (2) a recent graduate who studied broadcast journalism (3) a student of the University of South Carolina Upward Bound program (4) or a student of the Columbia Urban League Youth Leadership Development Institute. Station personnel provide direct supervision to students and also provide a description of the intern's efforts and accomplishments to his/her instructors.

The internship program offers college students an opportunity to use their creativity and fresh viewpoint in an inspirational company that thrives on inspiring. The intern's work hard - and make a difference, too.

Internships are a great way to put book knowledge to real-world use.

Interning is a chance to explore career interests through exciting work assignments. These work assignments include: production, filing, board op, screening calls, typing and data entry.

During the period covered the employment unit had one (1) intern from Winthrop University, Broadcast and Journalism Department.
